

Sajjadul Alam

Experience in Taiwan

Taiwan Experiment Education Program (TEEP) has been a pioneer in providing the opportunity to gather knowledge from Taiwan to the students of various countries, and in my case - I got this opportunity to be a part of this TEEP program in Nanhua University. I was quiet fortunate to receive this scholarship to learn the scientific knowledge that had boosted up my learning capabilities thorough out the period of time.

To come to Taiwan, I had to collect the Taiwanese Visa from India as there's no Taiwanese official representative here in Bangladesh. It was quiet an experience to go to a different country and get the visa for coming here in Taiwan and I got it without any major issues. After arriving here in Taiwan, I was well received by the International affairs authorities of Nanhua University and Prof. Hong- Yao Ming has played such an important role throughout the whole time. In Taiwan I experienced the vast differences of food and culture not quiet similar to the place I come from. It has it's own vive, the people and the culture has been mesmerizing. Coming from the subcontinental region where spices were a must in food, Taiwanese food took some time to get suitable with. But everywhere I go, I could only find beautiful places, people with a jolly mind and kind heart. Although there has been a language barrier, the Taiwanese people have been very helpful and polite all the time. It's a very remarkable experience that I've found in Taiwa

I. Batch mates

A total of 7 students were part of my batch where 6 of them were from India. They've all been the part of same department in same university. So they were all have the core basics of their subjects. And me, I was the only one from Bangladesh having completed my degree of Bachelor from Environmental Science and Disaster Management. The batch mates I got from here were very friendly from the beginning and we shared so many great moments together. With them I got to know the Indian culture, their cuisine and other attributes. From me they got to learn the Bengali culture, foods and sharing knowledge with each other. Throughout the whole time we were like a part of same family as India and Bangladesh are the neighbors and have so many things in common. I'm really grateful that I got the opportunity to get closer to such wonderful people.

II. Conference

In 2-3 November, 2019 The Department of Green Technology for Sustainability had held the 3rd International conference of SDGT in Fo Guang Shan, Kaosiung, Taiwan. We were the part of this conference and many delegates, researchers, professor from Taiwan and other countries were present in that conference. I experienced so many new things from the researcher, their knowledge sharing and about their projects. It was a really good opportunity to learn from the best to build a good career.

III. Tours and Trips

I have experienced the trips in Hsinchu county went on tracking and saw the various beauties of Taiwan. Field trips were really amazing as it helps to learn more about the nature and rises the urge to protect it from harm.

IV. Conclusion

The TEEP scholarship has been a turning point in my life as I got to experience Taiwan, got opportunity to work in very well equipped and technically advanced lab along with learning from the best professor out there. I'm really grateful to the ministry of education, Taiwan for providing us with this opportunity which is really helpful to the students of my country.